Postdoctoral Fellowships
At
Habib University
Karachi, Pakistan

Habib University is a liberal arts and sciences university offering interdisciplinary education in science, engineering, arts, humanities and social sciences. Committed to providing the highest standards of excellence in higher education and envisioned to be an intellectual nexus for the region, Habib University’s inaugural class started in August 2014 with 110 students.

A first-of-its-kind initiative in Pakistan, Habib University offers high quality programs of study in a collaborative learning environment. We are currently offering four undergraduate degree programs in Computer Science, Electrical Engineering, Social Development and Policy, and Communication Studies and Design. Students at Habib University are also enrolled in a Liberal Core alongside their major programs. With highly qualified faculty and a faculty student ratio of 1:12, the University ensures that each student is assisted to pursue a path that is unique to them, and is inspired by their individual passion and enthusiasm.

The Social Development and Policy Program at Habib University seeks 2 Postdoctoral Fellows for a two-year period from 2015-2017. The fellowship begins on July 1st 2015 and is open to scholars who will have obtained their Ph.D. between August 2012 and August 2015.

The fellowship will enable early-career scholars in any humanities and social sciences discipline to research in a collaborative learning environment at an innovative liberal arts university located in Karachi, Pakistan. Fellows will teach one course each semester, and their research should advance transdisciplinary scholarship in one of the following thematic areas:

- Urban and Community Studies
- Ethics and Social Justice

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, CV, research proposal, representative writing sample, brief course descriptions of two proposed courses, and names and contacts of two referees to postdocs@ahss.habib.edu.pk. For inquiries, please contact Mr. Jaffer Abid at jaffer.abid@ahss.habib.edu.pk.

Application deadline: May 15, 2015
