Hello Student Community!

What a whirlwind year it has been for higher education and the world around us—trade wars, environmental crises, and shifting global politics. Amid all this change, one thought keeps coming back to us: the power of community. With Gen-Z and AI shaping our present, our campus is evolving faster than a group chat turns into complete chaos. But are we truly ready for these changes? Maybe not yet—but we can be! Building a strong, supportive community is more important now than ever, and it starts with small but meaningful actions. Step away from the digital noise for a moment, look around, and ask yourself: How can I contribute to something bigger than myself?

As the great Desmond Tutu once said, "My humanity is bound up in yours, for we can only be human together." In this newsletter, we invite you to reflect on what it means to be part of a community—one that lifts each other up, checks in often, and tackles global challenges together. Because let's be honest, none of us have the time to solve everything alone—group projects taught us that lesson well.

As we remember our beloved alum Agha Dilawar (Class of 2024), we are reminded of two things: how short life is—so cherish your connections, and how resilience can lead to incredible achievements. In just two months, we will bid farewell to the Class of 2025. As that moment approaches, we want you to always remember that you have so much to accomplish in this life, and while opportunities are right at your fingertips, so are your relationships—with friends, family, faculty, and the wider HU community. Learn to balance them wisely. And most importantly, while you're out there changing the world, don't forget to change into your comfy clothes and take care of yourself too. Find joy in what makes you happy, take breaks when you need them, and remember—you are never alone on this journey. OSL team is like that one friend who always shows up—whether you need support for your initiatives or just someone to listen to your stress about deadlines. We have got your back!

Here's to building, growing, and thriving—together!
